

Volleyball Tournaments

Our volleyball tournaments come in a rotating number of formats.

Below are a few of our more common formats described:

Basic single individual participant blind draw

Each person signs up Individually and is placed in a blind draw of commonly skilled individuals. We generally separate highly skilled players so they are spread throughout all the teams. Then men and women are separated and individually placed on each team. Each coed team consists of 5 or 6 individuals.

Buddy Pair Tournaments

In this style tournament participants are welcome to bring a second individual to signup with. In this style tournament any type of pairing is welcome. 2 men can sign up together. 2 women can sign up together. A man and a women can sign up together. You are also welcome to come individually no partner needed. Signing up together places you together on a team with other participants to form a coed 5s or 6s team.

3 Buddies Tournament

In this format 3 individuals can signup together and be placed on the same team . In this style there is a requirement, but not limited to, that one of the three players be female. Players can also come as a pair of any form or as a single individual. Coed teams of 5s or 6s will be formed of registered participants.

Coed 4s Tournaments

In this style tournament players are allowed to form they're own 4 player team with the requirement that one of the players be female. The rules used in this style tournament mirror the rules used in Holidays 4 man power league.

Tournament design:

Each tournament format is variable by the number of participants and time. We generally use a pool play design to maximize the time so players get to play as many games as possible in the available time. After pool play has finished we take the higher seeded pool play teams to a playoff bracket. The number of teams and format are determined at that time by the amount of time left available.

Rules:

In general we use the same rules as Holidays volleyball leagues. Tournament participants skill dictate the level of rule enforcement. Most tournaments are coed and open to all skill levels so that is taken into consideration.
